Doing business in Nepal

MSI's guide on Doing Business in Nepal provides current information about the financial, regulatory and legal considerations that could affect business dealings within Nepal. For further assistance please contact our MSI member firm in Nepal.

Country overview

The Country

Nepal is a land locked country in south Asia between India and China. Nepal is divided in three geographical areas, i.e. mountain, hill and plains. The mountains also called Himalayan range is situated in northern parts bordering China. It contains the Mount Everest, the highest peak in the world, with an altitude of 8,848 metres height Mount Everest. The Hill Region is composed of mountains and peak altitude varies from 800 to 4,000 metres with progression from subtropical climates to alpine climates. The southern lowland plains or Madhesh bordering India are part of the northern rim of the Indo-Gangetic plains.

Population

The Nepal has a total population of 29 million inhabitants with population growth rate of 1.85 per annum.

Government

The Nepal is secular federal republic with a parliamentary system of government.

The centre is represented by federal parliament whereas provinces have separate provincial parliament. The federal government is run by council of ministers headed by Prime minister elected by federal parliament. The federal and provincial parliaments are divided in upper and lower houses. There is a multiparty democratic system and members of parliament are elected through mix of direct election and proportional representation. The Nepal is headed by the president of the federal republic elected by members of parliaments. However, the President has no political power; the Government is responsible for the executive branch of the government.

As said, the head of state does not bear political responsibility and can therefore not be held politically accountable by the parliament.

The Nepal has 7 provinces, each with its own governments. The provincial governments are run by council of ministers headed by Chief Minister elected by provincial parliament.

The provinces are further divided in local authorities governed by elected representatives.

Languages

The official language is Nepali. However, English is used prominently. Each region has its own language that is used by the majority of residents there. Most belong to the Indo-Aryan and Sino-Tibetan language families. Maithili is the largest spoken language after Nepali.

Currency

The national currency is the Nepalese Rupee (NPR).

Economic summary

Nepal has faced major setbacks in recent decades, but the country has made steady progress.

Main sectors of the economy

Nepal's economy encompasses agriculture, handicrafts and cottage industries, manufacturing industries, and dynamic services sector.

The main sectors in the Nepal's economy comprises of the Services sector (51%), Agriculture Sector (27%), Industry sector (15.5%) and the Manufacturing Sector (6.5%).

Foreign Investment Policy

Foreign Investment Policy

Nepal accepts Foreign Direct Investment of NPR 50 million or more in small, medium and large scale industries except in few industries reserved for only Nepalese or the Government of Nepal. FDI is not allowed in cottage industries. However, there is no restriction on transfer of technology in cottage industry. The industry can be setup in or without joint venture with Nepalese.

The benefits provided to foreign investors include repatriation of profits and investments and visa to investors and family.

Foreign Investment Climate

With election and formation of all levels of governments, political stability and industrial peace has improved. There is long term commitment towards the bettering investment climate for foreign investors. Further, Nepal has taken initiatives to improve access to the different regions. Other initiatives of the Government include reform of business-related policies and procedures and development of industrial and commercial infrastructures. These developments and initiatives have created more confidence among investors. As a result actual foreign investment has doubled in 2017/18 than 2016/17.

Types of Investment

Investment may be in form of equity or debt form. There is no limit in regards to debt investment. Minimum equity investment is NPR 50 million. Equity investment may be either jointly with Nepalese individual/entity or through 100% equity investment by foreign individual or entity. The project may be financed fully through equity investment or through a mix of domestic debt, foreign debt domestic equity and foreign equity.

Form of Investment

Foreign investors may invest either in the form of convertible foreign currency through proper banking channel or in the form of plant machinery and equipment required for the industry. However, Indian nationals may invest in Indian Currency as well through proper banking channel.

Sectors of Investment

Foreign investment in Nepal is open in industry and banking sectors. While, 100% investment is allowed in industry it cannot be more than 40% of equity in banking sector. Further, foreign investment is not allowed in trading activities including import and export. Foreign Direct Investment and technology transfer may be made in existing and new industry.

Potential areas of Investment

There are a number of investment ideas that can generate significant returns over the years. The opportunities can be even more considering strategic location between two largely populated countries India and China and growth of middle class population in in Nepal. Some of the areas identified as potential areas are:

- Outsourcing of Information Technology (IT) and IT-enabled services; research and labour intensive products
- Hydropower
- Tourism
- Agriculture – traditional and modern organic farming

- Infrastructure
- Manufacturing
- Mining
- Communication
- Healthcare and medical industry
- Education

Setting up a business

The first step in setting up a business is obtaining approval of foreign investment. Anyone desiring to operate in Nepal is required to apply to Department of Industry along with prescribed information and documents. After obtaining approval, the foreign investor may incorporate a company in or without joint venture with Nepalese entrepreneur. The industry is also required to be registered in Department of Industry and Internal Revenue Department. As all repatriation needs approval of Nepal Rastra Bank (Central Bank of Nepal), it is essential to register the industry in NRB along with certificate of money invested in the company, certified list of shareholders and other prescribed documents.

Legal types of business entities

1. Sole proprietorship
2. Partnership
3. Private Limited Liability Company
4. Public Limited Liability Company

In international business, the Private Limited Liability Company is most commonly used. The Private Limited Company is incorporated by one or more (not exceeding 50) promoters. The private limited company, if incorporated in joint venture with Nepalese, may have restrictions in transferring shares. The private limited company can be subsidiary of another company.

Process of how to set up a business

Foreign investor desiring to invest in equity in new industry is required to submit application in prescribed form along with project report, joint venture agreement and other relevant documents such as identification/registration, credibility certificate from bank, legal documents, resolution to invest in Nepal, Resolution of authorization, letter of authority etc. If the industry is listed as requiring IEE/EIA

Report as per Environment Protection Regulation, 1997, such report is also needed to be enclosed for approval of License and Technology & Environment Section of DOI.

After obtaining approval for investment from DOI, the company is required to be incorporated in the Office of the Company Registrar. The application for registering the Company needs to be made along with Memorandum of Association, Articles of Association, Approval letter of Department of Industry, Resolution to incorporate Company, authorization letter etc.

After incorporation of Company, the industry is needed to be registered in DOI. For this purpose, an application in prescribed form is to be submitted along with required documents.

In certain industries additional approval or license is needed. For example medical equipment for a diagnostic centre needs to be approved by Ministry of Health before ordering. Thus, the company may need approvals and license before commencing and/or during operation.

Financial year of taxes and financial accounts

The financial year for taxes and financial statements ends on 15 July of each year. The Annual General Meeting of the company must be held within six months from the end of financial year.

Accounting and auditing

Financial reports are required to be prepared in accordance with Nepal Financial Reporting Standards (NFRS). The NFRS is similar to IFRS.

Every business, irrespective of the legal form, nature of its business or turnover, must have its annual accounts audited each financial year. The audit can be conducted only by an individual or firm having certificate of practice from The Institute of Chartered Accountants of Nepal.

In addition to the audit of financial statements, income tax returns are also required to be certified by an individual or firm having certificate of practice from The Institute of Chartered Accountants of Nepal.

Economic and fiscal incentives

The Nepal government offers a number of incentive schemes in various sectors to support companies in their business operations. Some of the incentives provided to industries are summarized below.

- Refund of VAT and custom duty to industries manufacturing and exporting manufactured goods.
- Concessions in income tax and tax holiday to specified industries based on nature of business, location and employment.
- Additional depreciation at 1/3 of prescribed depreciation rates to prescribed industries.
- Full allowance of pollution control and research and development expenses.

Incentives to foreign investors

The incentives provided to foreign investors include repatriation of interest, dividend, principal of loan, sale of shares and salary of expatriates. In addition to the above economic benefits, foreign investors and their family members are entitled to business/resident visa.

Taxation

The tax system in any given country is invariably an extremely important criterion when it comes to companies finding a country of incorporation. The view taken by the Nepal government is that the tax system may under no circumstances form an impediment for companies wishing to incorporate in the Nepal.

In that framework, it is possible to obtain advance certainty regarding the fiscal qualification of international corporate structures in the form of so-called Advance Tax Rulings. In addition, the Nepal has also signed tax treaties with many other countries to prevent the occurrence of double taxation.

At the same time, its vast network of tax treaties offers instruments for international tax planning.

The Nepal tax system can be divided into taxes based on profit and gains, and value added taxes.

VAT

The general VAT rate is 13%. On export the rate is 0%.

Income tax

The tax base for income tax purposes is divided into the following:

1. Income from Employment
2. Income from business and profession
3. Income from investments.

Income from business is computed after deducting expenditure incurred for earning the income. Income from investments includes dividend, interest, payment for natural resources, rent, royalty, life insurance business etc.

Income tax Rate

Income from employment is taxed at progressive rates.

Income from normal business is taxed at 25%. Dividend whether paid to domestic or foreign persons @5%. Royalty paid to foreign persons @15%. Rental income @10%. Other investment incomes are taxed @25%. Some specified business such as tobacco products, liquor, life insurance are taxed @30%. Capital gains are taxed @10%.

Losses

Losses from business and investments may be carried forward for seven years.

Registration procedures

Private persons and companies are registered with the tax authorities and are given a Permanent Account Number. Communication with the tax authorities by way of tax returns is done through an electronic system.

HR/ Labour Law

Employment law

An employment agreement may be agreed for an indefinite or fixed period of time. Employees with indefinite period agreement are considered as permanent employee unless terminated within 6 months

Social security

It is obligatory to contribute in social security fund towards provident fund and retirement benefits @20% as employer's contribution and 11% as employee's contribution.

Workers are insured for illness and accident. Insurance policies can be taken from a number of insurance companies operating in Nepal.

Bonus

It is mandatory to set aside 10% of profit for bonus. Bonus to the employees is distributed from the amount so set aside as per guidelines. After distribution of bonus to employees the remaining amount is distributed as follows: 70% to the National Welfare Fund and 30% to the welfare fund of the entity.

Visa and work permits

All non-Nepalese except Indian nationals require valid visa to stay inside Nepal. People from outside Nepal must apply for a work permit before commencing employment in Nepal.

Employment Conditions

Rights and duties of employer and employees, health, safety, welfare, working hours, leave etc. are dealt in Labour Act, 2017.

Establishment and operation of Industry

Procedures regarding establishment, closure, permissions etc. are dealt in Industrial Enterprises Act, 1981.

Industrial Relations

Legal provision regarding registration, operation of Trade Union and other necessary provisions relating to labour rights are dealt in Trade Union Act, 1992.

Entities with 10 or more employees are required to form industrial relations and collective bargaining Committees.
